RE: New Apostolic Church Canada
New Churches - Bramalea & Lindsay, ON

Dear Wayne:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Arthur Electric and your teams led by Sam Bysma (Bramalea) and Adam Evans (Lindsay) for the 2 recently completed churches.

Both designs, by Andrew Bousfield Architect, although very different, required many modifications and design changes while in progress which were handled expertly and efficiently by your team.

The 6 month schedule required for the February '05 completion of the Lindsay Church was a team effort on the 5,000 Sq.Ft./90 seat/$2.3 million ($198,000. electrical scope). Your entire team worked well with all parties involved from our superintendent; the design team; thru to our client.

The 15,000 Sq.Ft./250 seat/$4.5 million ($320,000. electrical scope) Bramalea Church was completed in 10 months and allowed the New Apostolic Church to have their dedication service November '04. The complex design combined a variety of construction systems and building materials, including unique lighting.

We appreciate your team's hard work and dedication to meet the required deadlines and look forward to working with you in the future.

Yours truly
